

WILL ADJOURN VERY SHORTLY

Legislature Will Finish Its Work About The Middle Of Next Month.

WHITEHEAD'S DECIDED STAND WON

Many Matters Of Importance Are Being Rushed Through
In The Last Few Days Of The Present Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 25.—Final adjournment of the legislature on June 10 or 14 was the pleasant news handed out last night by the joint committee on claims, to which had been referred all the resolutions that members have offered seeking to fix the date of adjournment. The committee did not decide to report upon any particular day, but will report in favor of the adoption of a resolution to have both houses meet every day hereafter except Sunday until the end of the session is reached, and have all bills reported out from committees not later than next Wednesday. It will take about ten days or two weeks to clean up the work after all the bills are reported out, for a number of the bills remaining are such as have been pigeon-holed by committees and over which there will be much controversy on the floor of either or both houses. One of the bills of greatest importance remaining undischarged is the measure for the appropriation to the state university. This bill has been on the senate calendar for more than three weeks, being laid over for a few days at a time, usually on the motion of Senator Hatten, who is in charge of the measure. Those delays have been caused usually by members asking that they be given more time for consideration of the question. There seems to be some unorganized and unheeded reluctance to appropriate freely to the state university, but this opposition, if it can truthfully be called opposition, is not looked upon seriously by the friends of the university.

Another important controversial matter is the capitol building proposition, and that was practically settled by the action of the joint committee on claims Wednesday night in agreeing with the dissent of Assemblyman Potter, to report the bill with an amendment so that it shall provide for an immediate appropriation of $500,000 for the commencement of the work on the west wing, cutting the amount in the bill of the committee on capitol and grounds down from $800,000. The people of Madison have become alarmed by the passage by the senate of the Stevens bill to submit the question of capitol location to a vote of the people, but it is believed that the report of the committee on claims will settle the matter and that the building of the new capitol will begin this summer at Madison, the seat of government to remain here for all time. Much of the agitation for removal of the capitol has arisen out of a belief on the part of some members that the city of Madison does not appreciate the honor the state does it and that a good seat will be wholesome in bringing improvements in the way of pavements around the state park and in new and adequate hotel accommodations.

The suits brought by the state against the railroads to collect the penalties for failure to report all the gross earnings are set in the circuit court of Dane county for June 5. Railroad Commissioner Thomas has made a demand upon the roads that they bring to Madison all books and accounts affecting the case.

One of the most spirited debates to be held in the senate soon will be on the telephone bill, to prevent a company having various exchanges in the state from charging more in one place than the same company charges for similar service in another place of similar size. The bill was pushed two years ago unsuccessfully and renewed at the present session by the independent companies, who complained that the so-called Bell trust would resort to ruinous competition in a place until the independent company was driven out or forced to sell to the trust, and then would raise the rates to make up for the loss sustained while killing the independent company, and the independents claimed that the trust could do this because some places in the state, where there is no competition are charged high enough to bear the temporary loss of the competition in such places as the independent companies start.

Both houses adopted the rules on the committee resolution to hold daily sessions and to recall all bills from committees not later than Wednesday, the intention being for this to end the longest legislative session ever held in Wisconsin and to adjourn June 10. The senate concurred in the state civil service bill by a vote of 20 to 3, the opposition being Senators Deach, Frothingham, McGilivray, Noble, North, Randolph, Smith, Stevens and Wolf. Gov. La Follette submitted a long special message reciting the evils of the secret lobby and calling upon the legislature to pass a bill to limit and restrain legislative agents by making it an offense for them to operate otherwise than at open committee hearings. The Henry Johnson bill, so providing, has been passed by the assembly and was once defeated by the senate, but is now before that body again on a motion to reconsider it. The capitol removal referendum bill was recalled from the assembly on the motion of Senator Noble, which prevailed by a vote of 17 to 12 notwithstanding the strenuous objections by Senator Stevens of Oshkosh. The assembly state affairs committee bill regulating the speed and operation of automobiles on highways was advanced. It requires a registration with the secretary of state.

RUMORS HEARD OF A BIG NAVAL BATTLE

It Is Said That Admiral Togo Has Been Defeated Off Formosa Island.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

London, May 25.—A correspondent of the Central News at St. Petersburg wires that persistent rumors are heard in naval circles to the effect a naval battle has commenced off the island of Formosa.

The Russian fleet departed from the coast of French Indo-China May 14, several days after Rojstevsky's squadron had been reinforced by the ships under Vice Admiral Nebogatoff, and the main portion of the squadron was believed to have started directly for Vladivostok. Subsequently a number of the lighter craft in the Russian fleet appeared again off the Indo-China coast, but the heavy ships disappeared so far as all reports which reached the world are concerned.

The Japanese have been successful in keeping the whereabouts of Togo's squadron a profound secret, save for the occasional report of the movement of scout ships. Formosa was made a naval base almost as soon as Rojstevsky reached the Straits of Malacca, but whether Togo occupied it or not was kept from the world. The straits between the island and the mainland were mined, and the fact was announced from Tokio.

Manila is connected by telegraph with Formosa, but if the Japanese allowed the news of a sea battle to be sent from the naval base it would seem that the correspondents in Tokio would be given the same story. From Formosa a cable runs to Foochow, China, which is connected with Hong-Kong. From Hong-Kong to Manila there is a cable and the report of a sea engagement might have followed this course.

Bulls Make Large Profits.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

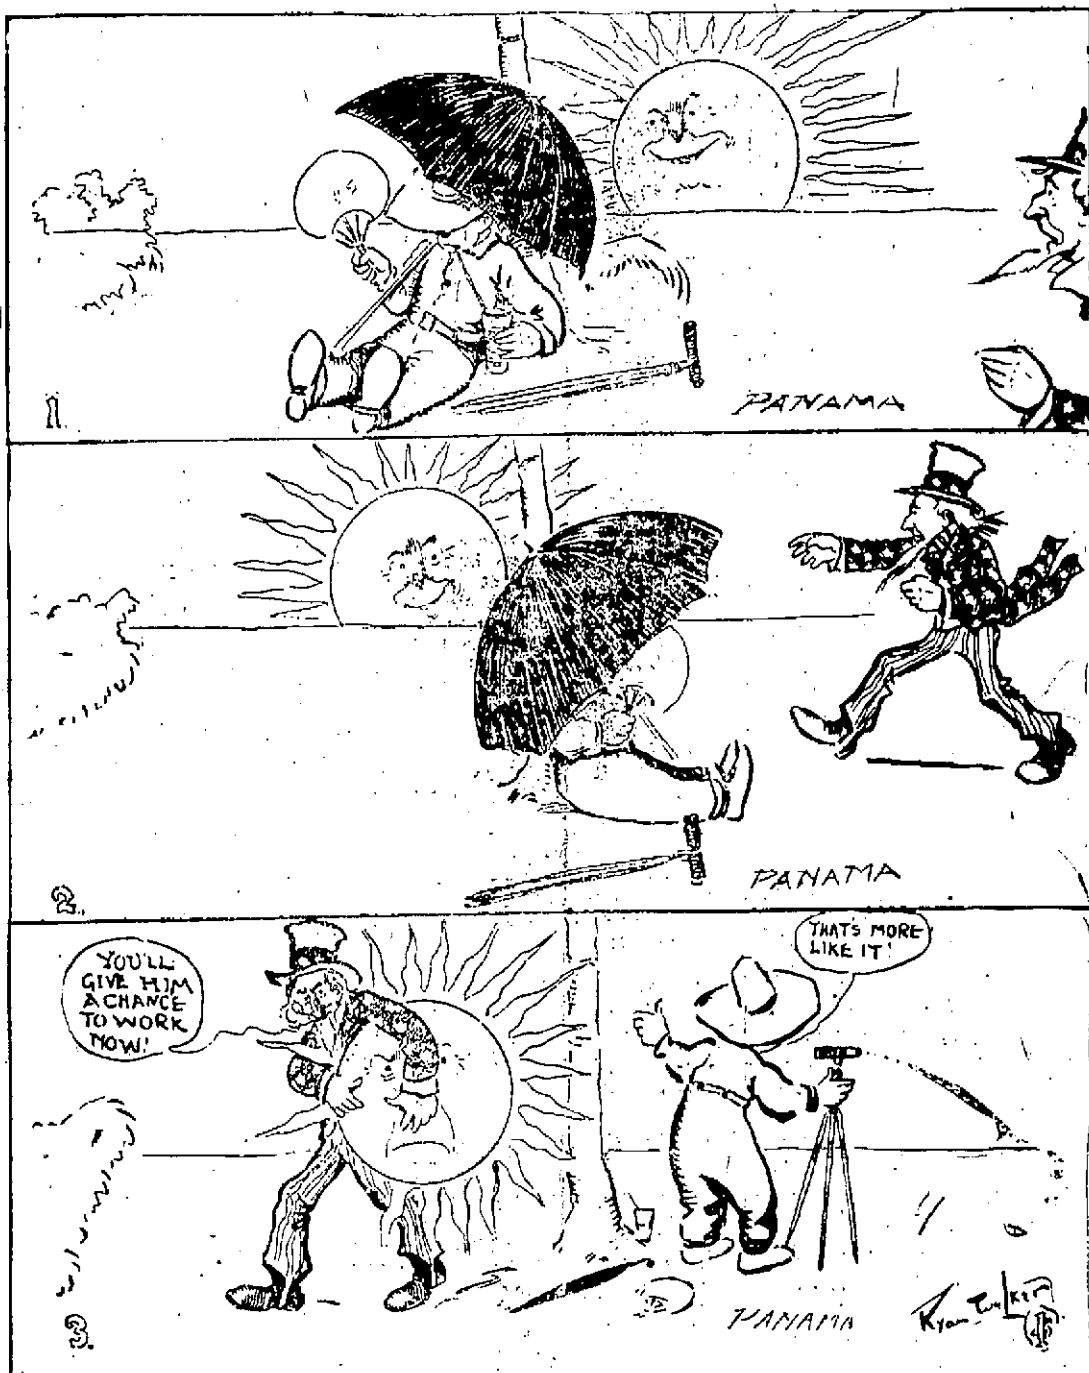

Chicago, May 25.—The corner in May corn engineered by the Patent-Bartlett crowd ended today in a settlement by the shorts at 65 and after the settlement May dropped to 61. It is said the leaders of the corner took big profits.

New Manila Bonds

Washington, May 25.—The bureau of insular affairs of the war department today received bids for sewer and water works construction bonds in the Philippines amounting to $1,000,000. Each bid was accompanied by a check for 2 per cent of the actual amount of the bid. Those bonds are the first of an issue of $4,000,000, others to be issued in January, 1907 and 1908. They will be redeemable after ten years or payable in thirty years in gold, bear four per cent interest, and will be accepted by the secretary of the treasury as security for deposits of public money or for circulation. The city of Manila is at present without any bonded indebtedness.

Trying to Free Famous Robber

Concord, N. H., May 25.—A petition was presented to Judge Aldrich of the United States supreme court here today for the release of Henry Edward Moebius, otherwise known as Max Shindrum, who has been serving a long term in prison for bank robbery. Shindrum robbed the Walpole bank in 1896 and the crime was at that time one of the sensations of the country.

and Then Makes His Retreat Secure.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

London, May 25.—The Times correspondent in Manchuria wires that General Mischenev after four days of abortive flut on the Japanese flank, retired May 22 twenty miles to the northwestward. He made no attempt on the Japanese lines of communication.

BOTHWELL SULFORD COMMITTS SUICIDE

Savanna Merchant, Whose Name Has Been Mentioned in Berry
Mystery, Dead

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Savanna, Ill., May 25.—Bothwell Sulford, the wealthy druggist whose name has been connected with the mysterious shooting of Representative Daniel S. Barry, committed suicide this morning. Sulford was seen to leave his store at seven-thirty o'clock this morning to go to the barn of his residence nearby. Shortly afterward a shot was heard and his dead body was found with a bullet wound in the head. Pulford, although strongly suspected, had provided a complete alibi through two witnesses, and strongly protested his innocence of the murder of Barry. The mystery of the shooting may never be solved. Pulford was of a nervous temperament and it is thought possible the serious charges which involved him may have preyed on his mind and led to the suicide.

The coroner took charge of the body. Pulford opened his store as usual at seven this morning. When questioned by a newspaperman regarding his revolver, Pulford said he was in a hurry to go to breakfast and would be back shortly. He seemed to be under a great strain. He went to the barn on W. T. Law's premises, where he kept his horses, and climbed to the loft and shot himself in the right temple. When informed of her husband's death, Mrs. Pulford became hysterical.

When Pulford left home this morning he kissed his wife and daughters. All were surprised at his unwonted show of affection. He left no message of any kind. The inquest will be held tomorrow morning. While the body is being prepared for burial, the funeral ceremonies are being conducted over the remains of Barry at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The body will be taken to Morrison for interment.

PLATFORM ADOPTED TRULY REPUBLICAN

Ohio Elephant Riders Reaffirm State and National Platforms of 1904.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Columbus, Ohio, May 25.—The political platform adopted in the republican state convention here today reaffirms the state and national platforms of nineteen four. It stands by the principles of equal protection to American labor industries. It endorses President Roosevelt's enforcement of the laws against the monopolies and trusts and approves of his efforts to stop railroads from making discriminations and giving rebates.

Governor Herrick was renominated by acclamation.

Famous Congress Hall Sold

Saratoga, N. Y., May 25.—Congress hall, the famous hotel of this city was sold here today. It was bought by a syndicate headed by Col. H. S. Clement, which will spend thousands of dollars in improving it before it is reopened in July.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

London, May 25.—A dispatch from Constantinople says it is reported the Arabian insurgents have captured the town of Hodeidah in the Yemen province.

Capt. Hobson a Benedict

Tuxedo Park, N. Y., May 25.—Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, who distinguished himself at Santiago during the American-Spanish war, was quietly wedded to Miss Grisolda Houston Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Hull, of this place today. The wedding was without display because of the recent death of Capt. Hobson's father and was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents which was prettily decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Hobson is a grandniece of former Governor Houston of Alabama and it is a curious incident that he appointed Capt. Hobson's father, Judge Jas. M. Hobson, then a young lawyer, to fill a vacancy on the bench of Alabama. The ancestors of both Capt. Hobson and his bride were personally associated in the south, where Capt. Hobson's forefathers, the Hobsons, Pearsons, Moreheads, Whitlams and Williamss, joined in laying the foundations of North Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama with the Polks, Houstons, Longs, Joneses and Eatons, from whom Mrs. Hobson is descended through her mother, Lucia Houston, daughter of Judge Russell Houston of Kentucky. The bride's father is the president of several iron companies and holds a prominent place in Wall street.

Secretaries of State Meet

Nashville, Tenn., May 25.—The second annual convention of the National Association of Secretaries of State began here today. This association held its first meeting in St. Louis last September and was formed at the suggestion of Secretary of State J. W. Morton of Tennessee. Capt. Morton is president of the organization, the purpose of which is to exchange views on corporation laws and other matters that are of mutual interest. President Morton delivered the opening address which was a review of the most important legislative changes in the different states. A large number of delegates are in attendance, accompanied by their wives, for whose entertainment extensive plans have been completed.

Judge Parker in Chicago

Chicago, Ill., May 25.—The annual convention of the Illinois State Bar association opened here today at the Chicago Beach hotel. The meeting was distinguished by the presence of Judge Alton B. Parker, late democratic presidential nominee, who made the principal address and will be the guest of honor at the association banquet.

Maryland Democrats to Meet in July

Baltimore, Md., May 25.—The annual meeting of the state central committee was held here today and fixed the democratic state convention for the last week in July. Senator Gorman was present, and will probably be on hand to run the state convention in July.

TROOPS READY FOR THE ORDER

Mayor Asks For A Thousand Policemen, And
But Fifty Applicants Appear.

MAYOR DUNNE IS MUCH WORRIED

Strike Will Spread To The Hardwood Dealers, And May Tie Up Ten Thousand More Union
Workmen.

Chicago, May 25.—With the spread of the teamster's strike to the hardwood lumber concerns, which now seems inevitable, several hundred more teamsters will be involved. The managers of the hardwood companies announced this morning that they would start to make deliveries to "Strike-Bound" concerns in the face of the declaration that the teamsters would walk out when such demands would walk out when such demands nearly ten thousand employees of mills and lumber yards which will be compelled to shut down.

Only Fifty
Only fifty men responded this morning to the call for a thousand additional policemen issued by Mayor Dunne last night. Twenty-four hundred officers were sent out this morning guarding twenty-five hundred wagons. If the new installment police is unable to control the situation, Mayor Dunne will call for troops.

More Violence
At Twenty-ninth and Dearborn streets at nine o'clock this morning five men attacked Louis Flint, a colored strikebreaker and kicked him into insensibility. His assailants escaped. Flint is in a critical condition.

Fairbanks Arrives
Vice-President Fairbanks reached Chicago on his way to Portland today. He denied he had been asked to intervene in the strike, but said he would be willing to help as a private citizen should if his good offices be requested.

Strike Grows Rapidly.

The strike is growing faster than the police department or the shirvelty forces can be expected to increase even if new calls for men are issued daily. Not all the applicants for positions under the civil authorities can meet the tests, physical and otherwise, and a large percentage of applicants necessarily will be rejected.

The 1,000 additional policemen called for, moreover, were not demanded by an outbreak of violence, but they are required partly to meet the requisition for guards for wagons driven by non-union teamsters, the number of which increases with every fresh addition to the ranks of the strikers.

In round numbers 800 lumber teamsters are now on strike, 224 having gone out yesterday, while as many more at least will quit their teams and wagons to-day. The strike will reach 200 drivers employed by the hardwood lumber interests alone, tying that industry (until non-union men, with ample police protection, can be put in charge of the wagons.

Protection Is Demanded.

Before the strike reached the lumber district the local authorities, with 2,400 policemen, to say nothing of deputy sheriffs, available for guard

Issue of Smelter Stock

New York, May 25.—Kuhn Loeb & Co., the bankers, today made a public issue of $25,000,000 five per cent cumulative preferred stock, series B of the American Smelters Securities Co., guaranteed unconditionally by the American Smelting & Refining Co. A controlling interest in the $30,000,000 of common stock of the American Smelters Securities Co. is owned by the American Smelting & Refining Co. The preferred stock is $47,000,000, of which $7,000,000, designated as series A, carries six per cent cumulative dividends, but is not guaranteed.

Brandegge to Be Banqueted

New Haven, Conn., May 25.—Hon. Frank B. Brandegge, recently elected to succeed the late Orville H. Platt in the United States senate, will be tendered a big reception here tonight by the Union League club, at which many prominent men from this and other states will be present.

Bids for Letter Boxes

Washington, May 25.—Sealed proposals for the furnishing of letter boxes for the postoffice department for the four years beginning July 1 next were received at the office of the purchasing agent of the department today. The contracts accepted will expire June 30, 1909.

Perry Belmonts Go Abroad

New York, May 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, the former a former congressman and brother of August Belmont, sailed for Europe today. They will be gone several weeks and return in time for the Newport season.

Julia Ward Howe Honored

Boston, Mass., May 25.—A complimentary banquet was tendered Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the veteran author here today by the New England Woman's club in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of her presidency of the organization.

duty, had all they could do to meet the situation. The lumbermen, fearing violence menaces their property and drivers to a greater extent than in the case of other interests involved in the strike, are demanding two guards as protection for every wagon sent out.

With the local authorities taxed to the limits of their power to supply protection, and with the breach between employers and strikers so wide that there is little hope of getting together for peace negotiations, the situation is made still more critical from the fact that President Shea of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters is facing the doors of a jail.

Martyrdom for Shea.

President Shea and other strike leaders who have refused to answer questions in the injunction proceedings before a master of the United States court may be committed to jail for contempt, and what the effect on the general strike situation will be if they are is problematical.

Shea's partisans undoubtedly would look upon him as a martyr if he were placed behind iron bars and urge his martyrdom as an incentive to fight the employers all the harder. On the other hand, the rule of Shea has created factions in the teamsters' ranks, not all of which agree with his policies.

If Shea be removed from active leadership, it is believed by some that more conservative policies would be brought to bear, and the strike would collapse. Shea's friends probably would characterize his incarceration as a scheme of the enemy to break the strike.

Vice President Edward Gould of New York will take Shea's place in command of the situation on the teamsters' side if the president be sent to jail.

Would Indict Express Agents.

The committee of fifteen of the Chicago Federation of Labor will go before State's Attorney Healy and demand the indictment of the agents of the express companies for establishing a blacklist. State's Attorney Healy said that he had not been approached on the subject.

"The question is a delicate one," he said. "Under the law any individual has the right to refuse to employ any person or persons in his judgment, undesirable, but it is illegal for any set of men to combine or agree together to prevent certain persons from securing employment. I have not looked into the matter, and do not care to discuss it, as the question may come before me officially."

MAY IMPEACH MAYOR OF THE QUAKER CITY

Weaver's Decided Stand on the Gas
Franchise Question Displeases Politicians.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Philadelphia, May 25.—Mayor Weaver today took forcible possession of the offices of the director of public works and public safety. Four detectives were placed on guard at the offices. At a conference of republican leaders this afternoon it was determined to institute impeachment proceedings against Mayor Weaver tomorrow morning. It is understood the proceedings will be based on certain letters it is alleged the mayor wrote in connection with the trial of Samuel Salter for ballot-box frauds.

"Tim" Woodruff's Son Weds

Columbus, Ohio, May 25.—A notable society wedding celebrated here today was that of Mr. John E. Woodruff to Miss Eugenie Watson, of this city. The bridegroom is the son of former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff of New York, who was recently married to Miss Isabel Morrison of New York city. Early next month both couples will sail for Europe and make a tour of the continent in a motor car.

Chicago Strikers Held

Chicago, Ill., May 25.—An examination was held here today of the four companions of Charles Casey, accused of being accessories to the murder of Charles Carlstrom. Casey is business agent of the Carriage and Wagon Makers' Union, No. 4, and it is alleged that he was an accessory also to the murder of Carlstrom who is claimed to have been beaten to death by hired thugs. All of the men except Henry J. Neuman, financial secretary to Casey's union, are held in $17,000 bail. Neuman's bonds are $25,000.

CHARMING IDEAS FOR TOILETTES

AFTERNOON AND HOME GOWNS PRETTY THIS SEASON.

MATERIALS AND TRIMMINGS

Fashion Letter by Marie Montagu—
Styles in Coats—Craze for Dainty Neckwear.

The most charming ideas are combined in afternoon and home gowns this season and this is true both of materials and trimmings. An example is shown in a rose and cream tinted tulle gown modeled by a rue Royale couturiere. The shallow hip yoke of the skirt is tucked in very fine tucks and the skirt is shirred to the yoke. A group of very fine tucks, headed with narrow rose lace insertion appear above a full flounce, which in turn is finished around the foot with a narrow ruffle. Above the ruffle the flounce is inset with Valenciennes motifs, while the round bodice is quite as elaborately trimmed with lace. The top of the waist is cut round and low to accommodate a glimpse of white linen and Valenciennes lace. The puffed sleeves are gathered at the elbow, with crushed bands of rose satin ribbon and there is a girle and sash of the same ribbon.

Although it may seem early for such selections it is true that the best dressed women have purchased their entire wardrobe of summer gowns, and if others are added later they will be merely supplementary. This early preparation, at least five weeks before the height of the summer season, is made in order to secure the new season's models.

A novel idea is shown in the trimming of a lavender mull gown for "at-home" wear. The design is trimmed with wide fine lace, with a creamy yellow tint and large "button roses" of softest lavender silk. The lace is set in three-inch wide bands and these are for the most part vertical and nine or ten inches high with pointed ends. The roses are of two shades of lavender, very light and the other a few shades darker. Each rosette is about two inches in diameter and shirred in three tiny ridges. The top half of each rosette is of light silk, and the bottom half of the darker shade. The rosettes are made of bias strips, half of one silk and half of the other and the effect is very chic.

One of the prettiest of the new shades of lavender is begonia, which has a reddish tint with a dash of grey which makes it charming for women of clear complexion.

A frock quite worthy the attention of the woman who is planning her summer outfit is made of pinstriped green linen. The blouse and skirt each is trimmed with flounces of lace and the coat is faced with a heavier lace, probably Irish crochet.

Coats are not anything it not stunning and they grow more elaborate when they are not taking on new forms of Puritanical simplicity. The Empire effects in coarse lace bound with tulle are the game of chic. They have broad bands of the tulle brought around the figure to outline the Empire effect and there is also another band facing the outside of the coat at the front. These bands are broken here and there with other bands of black ribbon velvet arranged cross-wise and fastened with fancy buttons.

Coats of the redingote type in lace are also stylish and are the opposite of the more elaborate Empire effects. They reach almost to the floor and are built on the simplest possible lines, relying upon the beauty of the fine patterned close lace and the grace of line for its cachet.

Some of the heavy linen coats are made of almost equal parts of renaisance lace and braid, the three being cut into many small and fancy-shaped pieces and arranged so cleverly that it is impossible to tell which is really the foundation; naturally one takes it for granted that to the linen belongs this distinction.

Another feature of midsummer modes is the craze for dainty neckwear which finds expression in numberless stocks and collars. The Mexican drawn-work ties with deeply ornamented ends are expensive, but a possession that would arouse the envy of any woman. They are brought around the neck without any frills of fuss and tied in a Priscilla bow under the chin. Not even a brooch mars their simplicity, for the knot of the bow is pulled out daintily and softly, making a very dainty effect. Not all of these ties are expensive, for a number of dainty designs with just a dainty bit of hand-work come at moderate prices; naturally, however, the more elaborate ones appeal to the majority of women.

MARIE MONTAGU.

Menasha Record: And it is also to be noticed in all places and at all times, that the men who do not believe in advertising are always ready to accept all they can get when they do not have to pay for it.

WHY DOES A BABY CRY?

Because it is either hungry or in pain. Properly nourished it will usually grow up-right and be comfortable—that's the principal thing for a baby. If its food lacks strength and nourishment add Scott's Emulsion at feeding time. A few drops will show surprising results. If a baby is plump it is reasonably safe. Scott's Emulsion makes babies plump.

WILL NOT IMBIBE MILWAUKEE WATER

Woodmen at the Cream City Encampment Will Be Supplied with Waukesha Springs Product.

Charles E. Whelan, national lecturer of the Modern Woodmen of America, Madison, and Director Saunders, Rock Island executive council of the society, to whom was referred the question of water supply for the Woodmen who are to go into camp at Lake Park, Milwaukee, on June 20 to 25, have decided to use water from one of the Waukesha springs, which will be delivered on a sidetrack near the grounds in tank cars fresh from the spring every day during the encampment.

Milwaukee camps of the Modern Woodmen are making great preparations for the carnival parade on the afternoon of June 23. Circular letters have been sent to every Woodman camp in Milwaukee, asking them to participate. Prizes are to be given for the best costumes and best drilled companies in the parade.

One of the many excursions will be that of a delegation of 300 from Des Moines, Ia., with the Fort Dodge, Ia., military band. The train will leave Des Moines on June 17. F. R. Korns, Des Moines, mentioned as a candidate for director in 1907, is chairman of the delegation and will preside over the Iowa caucus on June 19.

DEATH RELIEVED UNHAPPY WOMAN

Jennie Tweeda, Who Became Violently Insane on Monday, Passed Away at Mendota Last Night.

Word was received from Mendota last evening to the effect that Jennie Tweeda, the insane woman who attacked Dr. Pomeroy at the Mary Kimball home on South Jackson street Monday night, had died in the asylum. The news was no surprise to those who were familiar with her critical condition when she was taken from Janesville. Deceased was born in Norway and had worked as a servant here for several years. A brother and a sister reside in Edgerton.

GOLF CLUB DANCE AT CENTRAL HALL

Last Evening Proved a Very Delightful Affair—Thirty-Five Couples Attended It.

About thirty-five couples attended the dancing party given by the Sunnyside Golf club at Central hall last evening. Though the affair was announced as informal, full dress costumes predominated and a reception committee was organized in recognition of this fact. Kneff & Hatch's orchestra of five pieces until one o'clock. Among the guests from without the city were Mr. and Mrs. James Monahan of Darlington, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orton of Darlington, Miss Hazel Underhill of Quincy, Florida, and Miss Veach of Chicago. The committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of Mesdames Pfaff, Biedrott, and Harris, and Messrs. Grant and Lane. A large number of tickets were sold for the affair and the proceeds will be used in re-decorating the clubhouse.

WHAT OTHERS ARE DOING.

The New York Evening Mail has started a new scheme which is proving popular among lovers of the turf. It supplies charts of the race meetings now being held, which can be had by applying at the newsdealers. In connection with these charts the Mail has also put out leather covers for them, which are sold both by the paper and the newsdealers for twenty-five cents, or sent by mail for thirty-five cents.

It is announced that the Munich Allgemeine Zeitung will suspend publication on July 1. This is one of the oldest and most respected of German daily newspapers and was founded in 1598 by Johann Friedrich Coster of Stuttgart. It has long enjoyed a high literary reputation.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch is giving away flower seeds to those children who take to the paper's office a coupon, which is printed in the newspaper daily—properly filled out. The reason for giving away the seeds is to make the children to make Richmond a more beautiful city and in so doing, give each child the opportunity of owning a lovely garden, thus bringing nature into the homes of those who are able to enjoy country life.

The Bradock Daily News, the oldest daily in Bradock, Pa., has been transferred from John C. Loughhead, the editor and publisher during the last six years, to Louis F. Ross, of McKeesport, Pa. The Journal has existed for sixteen years under its present name and for years previous as the Daily Journal and Evening Times. The paper has always been Democratic in politics but its new owner will make it independent.

The Topeka Capital is proud of the showing it makes in the matter of growing circulation. The sworn statement of the secretary of the Capital shows that the circulation of the daily has passed the 20,000 mark, and under the management of Arthur Capper it will continue to grow. It is said to have the largest circulation of any paper in the United States in a city of the same size as Topeka.

The Minneapolis Mnn. Tribune has added considerably to its circulation by the purchase of the circulation of the entire circulation of the St. Paul Globe, daily and Sunday. The Globe recently suspended circulation and although it was not a paying property it had a goodly list of subscribers who will no doubt be more than pleased with the Tribune.

SIXTY VISITORS WERE ENTERTAINED

By Local Odd Fellows Last Evening at Social and Dance Given in East Side Hall.

Nearly two hundred guests, including sixty visitors, attended the entertainment and dance given by Wisconsin Lodge No. 34, I. O. O. F., and Rebekah Lodge No. 29, in honor of Du Lac Lodge No. 322 of Milton, Milton Lodge No. 65 of Orfordville, and Waupun Lodge of Orfordville, at the east side hall last evening. The early part of the evening was devoted to a reception and general good time, followed by a dance which lasted until after midnight. The Kellogg orchestra furnished the music. A delightful time was enjoyed by everyone present.

THOROUGHGOOD CO. FACTORY CLOSED

In Order to Permit the Raising of a New Smoke Stack That Is to Replace the Old One.

Thorough & Co.'s box-factory has been obliged to shut down for a week while the old smoke-stack is being replaced by a new one and sixty-five employees of the several departments are thereby given an enforced vacation which is doubtless received with no thanksgiving. The new stack weighs about two tons and the placing of it is a difficult operation. Alderman Fish and four men have the work in hand.

SASH & DOOR CO. HAS BIG CONTRACT

Janesville Concern Will Provide Inside Furnishing for 147 Houses in Oak Park at Cost of $75,000.

Inside finishing material for 147 houses to be built in Oak Park, Ill., will be provided by the Janesville Sash & Door Co. The contract will amount to about $75,000 and is perhaps the largest of the kind ever taken here. It will mean work for a large force of men during the summer. Manager Al Schaller had to compete with a number of big planning-concerns in the west in the bidding.

VETERAN TOBACCO RAISER OF TOWN OF FULTON DIES

Wilkerson Post, Who Came to Rock County in 1864, Passes to World Beyond.

Wilkerson Post, a leading citizen and veteran tobacco raiser of the town of Fulton, passed away at his home last Friday. The deceased was a native of the Buckeye state and was eighty-three years of age. His school education was limited to a few winters' study in the district schools and at the age of fifteen he was thrown upon his own resources to scratch out a livelihood as best he could. He began to work as an "apprentice" to a tailor. This he gave up for the coopering trade and coopering for blacksmithing. But the latter was too heavy for his physical powers and he learned the trade of wagon maker, which he pursued until 1853 when he bade farewell to his native home and journeyed to Wisconsin. Madison was his objective point and here he lived for a year. Mr. Post then came to Rock county and purchasing 160 acres of unbroken land, soil in its primitive state, in the town of Fulton, settled there. He erected a small frame house on the land and it was here his pioneer days were passed. He engaged extensively in producing tobacco and succeeded in raising the finest grade of leaf, in fact some of the best that was ever put on the market in southern Wisconsin.

Wilkerson Post was joined in wedlock to Rebecca Baden, in the June of 1845 and two children were born to bless their union, one of whom died in infancy. Mrs. Post died at the end of four years and her loss was deeply mourned not only by her husband but by the entire community. Mr. Post was married the second time in 1851 to Eveline M. Pearson. Two children were born to them, one passing away while yet an infant. Mrs. Post's death came on March 16, 1887 and since that time Mr. Post has made his home with his son William, who resides on the old home.

MISS EMMA JENNINGS OF JOHNSTOWN AND EUGENE SERLE OF HERE MARRIED

Ceremony Performed Last Evening at Home of Bride's Parents by Rev. Bergmann.

On Wednesday evening, May 17, a pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings in Johnstown, when their daughter, Miss Emma, became the bride of Eugene Serle of Janesville. The house was beautifully decorated with bride's roses, lilies of the valley and carnations. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Abigail Kueck of Janesville, they entered the parlor attended by the bride's sister, Miss Mary Jennings, and Wallace Cochran, where the Rev. August Bergmann pronounced the words which united them in marriage. The bride was beautifully dressed in white and carried bride's roses, while the bridesmaid was dressed in pale blue. After the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining-room, where an elegant two-course supper was served. Many beautiful gifts were left and the guests departed wishing the happy couple many years of joy and prosperity. About seventy-five guests were present. Among those from away were Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Williams, A. D. Clark and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Serle, Mr. Wilkins of Fairfield, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher of Janesville, Supt. and Mrs. Killam, Miss Clark of Janesville, Miss Nell Killam, Miss Mary Zandinger, and Miss Hattie Kueck.

The New Orleans-Great Northern has filed an amended charter naming New Orleans and Memphis as terminal points. The road will pass through Jackson, Miss.

BIG ATTENDANCE DESIRED TONIGHT

FOURTH OF JULY MASS MEETING CAUSES MUCH INTEREST

MANY WANT A CELEBRATION

This Matter Is To Be Decided at the Gathering Tonight at the City Hall.

It is the duty of every citizen of Janesville who is interested in the promotion of the city's best interests to be present tonight at the meeting at the city hall to decide whether or not the Fourth of July shall be celebrated this year or not. There will be some who oppose the plan and some who favor it and both these elements will be present. It is best to have a big meeting, thoroughly discuss the plans and if it is decided to celebrate to appoint a good set of committees so that work may be begun at once. Celebrations in the past have brought large crowds to the city and with advertising the city received for its celebration last year it would doubtless attract a larger crowd this Fourth than ever before. Money brought into the city by these people would be distributed through all the lines of trade and more money in circulation means better times. The meeting tonight is to decide this question and should be thoroughly discussed.

It is Unique. Janesville methods of celebrating the Fourth are unique. There is no city in the country where everyone turns out and helps make the day a success more than Janesville. The industrial parade taking in every phase of the business life of the city, the Nonesuch Brothers' circus parade in the afternoon, in which business men take part, are things no other city can boast of. Traveling-men who were fortunate enough to witness last year's celebration have never wearied of telling of this feature and this perhaps has done more to advertise Janesville than any other line of work in years past.

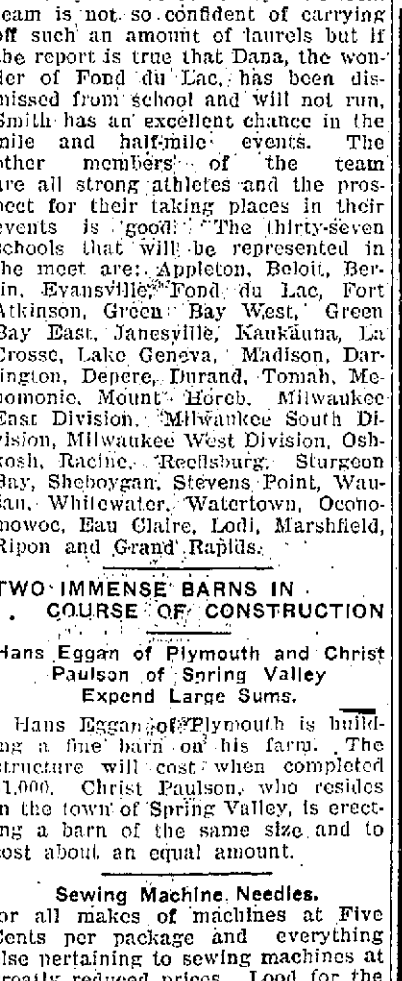

New Features. It is planned if the meeting tonight decides to hold a celebration to have many new features this year. There is some talk of holding foot-races and some of the sports which were prevalent at the first part of the last century. It is also planned to have a band concert all the evening and have plenty of music all day. The meeting tonight is of vital interest to Janesville and should be well attended.

EVANSVILLE FEELS SURE OF LAURELS

Almost Certain That They Can Take One of the High Places in Inter-scholastic Track Meet.

While Milwaukee high schools and the Fond du Lac institution are considered rivals for first honors in the state track meet at Madison this year, Evansville expects to gain a place high up in the honored list. Their team is crippled by the fact that Captain Churm is in bed as result of a dislocated ankle received while in practice and will not enter the meet, but they feel certain that athletes from there will win seconds if not first in the high jump, the pole vault and the high hurdles. The contestants from there in their respective events are said to have gone close to the state records and it will only be a bit of luck or record smashing men that they will be beaten by. The local team is not so confident of carrying off such an amount of laurels but if the report is true that Dana, the wonder of Fond du Lac, has been dismissed from school and will not run, Smith has an excellent chance in the mile and half-mile events. The other members of the team are all strong athletes and the prospect for their taking places in their events is good. The thirty-seven schools that will be represented in the meet are: Appleton, Beloit, Berlin, Evansville, Fond du Lac, Fort Atkinson, Green Bay West, Green Bay East, Janesville, Kaukauna, La Crosse, Lake Geneva, Madison, Darlington, De Pere, Durand, Tomah, Mequon, Mount Horeb, Milwaukee East Division, Milwaukee South Division, Milwaukee West Division, Oshkosh, Racine, Reedsburg, Sturgeon Bay, Sheboygan, Stevens Point, Wausau, Whitewater, Watertown, Oconomowoc, Eau Claire, Lodi, Marshfield, Ripon and Grand Rapids.

Another Wonder of Science. Biology has proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ. Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure, until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

New York.—Between the reported intentions regarding the future of Secretary of the Navy Morton when he retires from the cabinet and the actual improvements planned by several of the great systems, Wall Street is filled with railroad rumors of a most interesting nature. Two reports, each of which seems to be as equally well-founded as the other, place Mr. Morton in an important position with big railroads next fall. One says that he will assume the presidency of the Wabash, succeeding Joseph Ramsey, Jr., while the other states that he has been persuaded to return to the second vice-presidency of the Santa Fe road. The rumor or statement, which seems best entitled to credence is the one coming from Washington which says that Secretary Morton has under consideration so many plans and offers that he himself does not really know what he will do, after leaving the cabinet, probably as early as September 1.

The large improvements planned by several of the big railroads will keep thousands of workmen busy throughout the summer. The Rock Island has contracted for 1,700 refrigerator cars. The recent inquiry into the interstate commerce commission and the conditions revealed is said to be responsible for the action of the Rock Island company, which will inaugurate its own refrigerator car service in the fruit and produce trade of the west and south.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway has begun the extension of its yards at Rutherford station and the work will cost more than a million dollars, while the Big Four has decided to broaden out the passenger service of its system materially in the near future. This road and the Michigan Central are to be brought into close working relations wherever joint arrangements will improve the service of either. The New Orleans Terminal has bought five solid blocks of ground in the heart of New Orleans costing upward of $3,000,000 on which a mammoth passenger station will be built, costing $1,500,000.

At night the cars will run until all visitors are home.

The state supreme court of Texas has rendered a decision in the anti-trust case of the State of Texas against the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad Company and the Pullman Company, holding that an exclusive contract between these companies for the operation of sleeping cars over that railroad is not a violation of the State Anti-Trust Act. The court says that such a contract is not in restraint of trade and is of benefit to the public, instead of injury. There are forty-eight similar suits against other railroad companies and the Pullman Company pending in the District Court at Austin, Texas, which will be dismissed.

The Harriman lines and the Santa Fe, while competing on a harmonious basis with respect to some lines of traffic, have cleared for action and will engage in a royal battle for east-bound passenger business from California this summer. The Santa Fe has thrown down the gauntlet by announcing that it will sell round trip tickets to Chicago and Kansas City at one fare on certain dates in addition to the one fare rate that has been agreed upon for conventions in the east.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, May 23, 1863.—Free Lecture Tonight.—There is to be a free lecture at the Lapham Hall in the interests of the Fenian Brotherhood. The speaker is represented as being interesting and eloquent.

Attention, Veterans!—Members of the "Janesville Volunteer Union" and all discharged soldiers, as well as those still in the service, who reside in this city, are invited to meet at the office of J. Baker, Esq., this (Thursday) evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. Matters of importance to all such will be considered.

By Order of the "Union."

The Patriotism of the Second District.—From the Provost Marshal's office we get some interesting figures in relation to the number of men furnished by this district at the last call for men—that of December 1864. The quota of the district was 2,291; the credits of the district 2,291—more than the number required. The deficiencies in various sub-districts were 22, while the surplus in other localities was 29. We believe that this district is entitled to a banner in the matter of furnishing men for the army.

Gov. Lewis, writing from Washington under date of May 18th, says: "I think I shall get all our sick or wounded soldiers discharged or transferred to hospitals in Wisconsin before the extreme hot weather of the summer months."

A passenger car entirely composed of iron, is running upon the Chicago and St. Louis railroad. It is pronounced superior and safer in every respect to those constructed of wood, and is 6,000 pounds lighter.

The Daily Wisconsin says the great big two-story American Orator, Arthur McNight, is lecturing for the benefit of the Soldiers' Home Fair, but no money will be on their guard when they are solicited to buy this, that and others, for the benefit of some fair. In most instances it is a gouge game.

The News.

The Texans are rampant still and claim to be able to bring into the field 80,000 warriors every one of whom will be above thirteen years of age.

The people of Alabama seem to be satisfied with the result of the war. Union meetings, largely attended, have been held in various parts of the state.

It is understood that all the rebel officers concerned in the atrocious starvation of our prisoners will be excluded from the benefits of the amnesty proclamation; hence the Fort Pillow murderers.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Janesville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Mr. E. Dillenbeck of 120 Milton avenue, retired farmer, says: "My wife was troubled with kidney complaint for four or five years and complained it pains in the small of the back in the region of the kidneys. The symptoms all indicated that the kidneys were deranged and the doctors who treated her said that those organs caused the disturbance. As she did not get any better we thought Doan's Kidney Pills might give her relief, on procuring them at the People's Drug Store, I had her use the remedy. I did for her all that could be expected. We can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and you can use our names as ailing what has been stated above."

SAFELY THROUGH MOTHERHOOD WITHOUT PAIN.

What a wonderful message of hope and escape from suffering these words carry to that woman who is dreading the hour that shall proclaim her Motherhood. Perhaps for her is the first time God has been kind and what she has seen and heard and felt in contemplating the coming event which even now is casting its shadow before her way of many painful discomforts? The joy which has been turned into an event of thanksgiving and joy, stripped of its agonies and dangers because of the learned skill of man.

RICH SILK HAUL BY BOLD THIEVES

BORT, BAILEY & CO'S BELOW
STORE LOOTED LAST NIGHT.

LOSS WILL BE VERY HEAVY

Between Three and Four Thousand Dollars' Worth of Valuable Silks Are Stolen.

Bort, Bailey & company's Beloit store has again been visited by clever silk thieves and it is estimated that between three and four thousand dollars' worth of the most valuable black and dark colored silks are missing from their shelves this morning. Apparently there is no clue of the thieves or how they managed to carry their plunder off. Their mode of procedure was similar to the last two robberies of this same store and the fact that only the best silks were taken shows that it is the work of experts.

Dig Entrance
The robbers made their entrance into the store through the side wall that joins the rooms of the Christian Science church on the second floor. After the last robbery the management of the store lined the side and rear walls of the store with cast-iron sheeting. The thieves evidently knew this fact, for after securing an entrance to the Christian Science rooms they dug holes in the plastering in several places, hunting for a spot where no sheet-iron existed. They found this over an old doorway and quickly dug a hole large enough to admit a man into the store.

Take Their Pick
From the appearance of the store this morning it is evident that the thieves took their time over the work and carefully investigated the recesses of the store before beginning work. In the millinery department hats were torn down and valuable millinery materials strewn about the floor. The silks were in the front part of the store and only the best black and dark-colored goods were selected.

The Get-Away
The thieves evidently conveyed their goods to the second story where they had their entrance and pushed the goods through the hole into the Christian Science rooms, where they were made up into bundles and then dropped down over a railing into the network of alleys and thus got away safely. Mr. Bort was on his way to Chicago this morning, having started before the burglary had been discovered, but he was telegraphed at once and returned by noon.

Trace on Theft
One of the robberies of this store took place while George Appleby was city marshal of Beloit and was traced by him to the door of "Bloomington Red," a notorious thief, who had just been arrested and was serving a term in Joliet. It is understood the store is partially protected by a burglar-insurance policy.

NOT UNANIMOUS AS TO THE TROUBLES

Janesville Man Talks with Some of the Strikers in Chicago on the Situation.

"Chicago striking teamsters are not all in accord with the present strike." This was the statement of a Janesville resident who has recently been in Chicago. "I talked with several teamsters," he continued, "and found that even though they were acting as pickets at the railway depots, they did not favor the present strike. They hoped the troops would not be called out, as it might lead to bloodshed, and expressed the sentiment that it was not the union men themselves, but sympathizers, who created all the disturbances and hurt the cause generally. The men spoken to were formerly drivers for Marshall Field and Montgomery Ward. They were clean-cut looking sort of fellows and expressed sincere regret over the condition of affairs. One 'caddy' I talked to wore a red button on his coat and explained if he did not wear that he would be mobbed. He said he owned his own outfit, but that since the strike began he had not made living wages. If it did not soon clear up he would have to mortgage his team. Every express-wagon and many of the retail delivery stores have guards of four on all the wagons they send out. I saw several mobs collect on the streets when wagons driven by non-union men were knocked over and saw one man chased by a crowd, but really saw no violence, although I heard of plenty of it in the lumber district. I talked with one of the militia officers, who told me men from each of the companies in every regiment in Chicago were on duty night and day at the armories waiting the call for troops. The men's outfits are all packed and ready for instant service; ball cartridges with three bullets in each shell have been issued and will be used. I was surprised to find that there is a strong sentiment against the employers' association among business men not members, whose work is delayed. This, however, is counterbalanced by the fact that a great majority of the citizens blame Mayor Dunne for the existing conditions and think he should call the troops out."

SOME HARD HAULS FOR CIRCUS TEAMS

Likely To Be Necessitated by Paving
Operations Now Under Way—Parade Route Not Announced.

Those who revel in the tinsel and gay trappings of the circus parade have commenced to worry over the route of the Forepaugh-Sells pageant on Tuesday next. South Main street between South Second and Milwaukee and West Milwaukee between High and Academy are torn up for the paving and if the Sreet Car Co. starts to laying its new roadbed, ties, and rails on South Main tomorrow or next day, the section referred to will be impassable. In that event the heavy chariots will have to climb the steep grade on Third or Second streets to Bluff and go way around the park in order to reach the most important portion of the main thoroughfare of the city. The city officials do not believe that it will be safe to allow either the Jackson street or Monterey bridges to be used and occasion more in taking their wagons from the Five Points to the grounds the circus people will have to pass over either the Milwaukee street or Court street bridges. As far as can be learned the Forepaugh-Sells people have no intention of repeating the experiment of the Barnum people in abandoning the parade. One of the advance men who visited the city hall said that the management regarded it as too important a magnet for the show to be omitted.

TRADED HATS FIND THEIR OWNERS

Whitewater Register Tells of Unique
Experience of a Janesville Man.

John Murphy, the Janesville land-lord says, the Whitewater Register, telephoned on a few days since and said he had traded hats at Chicago with a man whose hat bore the trademark of Halverson Bros. Whitewater, and that he would be glad to let the trademark stand, if the hat fitted him for it was a better article than his own. After getting a close description of the stray Whitewater hat search was made and the Murphy hat was found on H. C. Smith's cap. And each man got his own back again, which is absolutely the first case of the kind on record.

THINK POSSE BEING LED TO ITS DEATH

Citizens of Park Falls Believe the Last Dietz Posse Will Be Unsuccessful.

Dispatches from Park Falls, where the United States marshal-posse headed by William and George Appleby have started for the Thornapple dam to capture John Dietz, show that the residents of this section of the state are much against the project and express themselves freely that the posse is being led to death. It is said that a Fifield man who secured volunteers told the men that they would get seven dollars per day and would never have to interfere with Dietz. It is believed that these men who thought they were going on a get-rich-quick picnic have been duped and will be required to fulfill their duties as deputy marshals when they come in contact with Dietz. One theory that the logging company is anxious to have Dietz clash with a posse. Should he do so and shoot any of its members more determined efforts would be made to effect his capture. The company tried to organize a posse of woodmen in Sawyer and Gates counties, but failed. The posse assembled at Fifield yesterday. Seven wagons were required to carry the men and their provisions. They drove as far as the roads permitted and proceeded thence on foot. They were expected to reach Cameron dam tonight.

HOW A CIRCUS TAKES WITH THE SMALL BOY

Next Tuesday the Big Show That May Winter Here, Will Arrive in the City.

Tuesday next is the day the small boy has been waiting for. He showed passing interest in the opening of the baseball season, but the circus posters have had him hypnotized ever since they were pasted on the billboards. Now the circus is coming. It will be here on schedule-time Tuesday morning and performances will be given Tuesday afternoon and night.

And it is a great big circus—a combination of the great show organized and operated by the late Adam Forepaugh and that of the equally as well known Sells Brothers.
The circus played a record breaking season at St. Louis a few weeks ago, and speaking of the performance one of the St. Louis papers said: "It is unique. There is no surving after new or odd changes; no straining for effects. Every act presented is a real circus act. It is a tremendously big show—but a circus all the time. Its great merit lies in the rapidity with which one series follows another. There is not a dull moment, something interesting or amusing from beginning to end. This is its distinguishing traits, and lifts it out of the rut and sets it over in a class of its own."

The seven O'Briens present a distinct circus novelty in their "Derby Day" act. While driving a four-hundred-horse team they perform graceful acrobatic feats with the same ease which they would experience in working on the ground. The Walkowsky troupe of 14 Russian whirlwind dancers. Sunless educated Spanish bulls. The Aurora Zouaves heralded as the best drilled body of soldiers in the world. Then there are the sixteen marvelous Japanese men and women, presenting a series of Oriental athletic feats. Captain Webb's two companies of educated seal and sea lions. The clowns of whom there are forty are said to have many new wrinkles with which to entertain the little ones. Two score of champion riders of all schools of equestrianism will be seen in the rings. The famous Prosper-Dims troupe of English acrobats and three herds of performing elephants. There will be every sort of act that could be found in a modern circus and many features which no other circus presents. The whole world has contributed in forming the new Forepaugh-Sells Shows.

CROW BOUNTY FAST BECOMING BIG ITEM

Rock County Has Paid for Over 3,000 of Them This Year—Move to Repeal Measure Lost.

It is estimated that Rock county has paid the ten-cent bounty on 3,000 crows since January 1 of this year. The figures have not been added but this is believed to be a conservative guess. Yesterday Supervisor J. L. Bear introduced a resolution abolishing the bounty but no action was taken on it. It was stated during the brief discussion that crow hunting, under Rock county auspices had in some sections become more profitable than farming; that there was every likelihood that this section of the state would soon be bearing the expense of killing off the black fellows in all the neighboring counties, as it would be an easy matter for Walworth, Dane, Green and Jefferson county residents, were they disposed to be dishonest, to pass their booty to some Rock county resident. County Clerk Lee has received letters from Brodhead and other towns inquiring what Rock county would pay for so many crows, indicating that there are people anxious to hunt in those sections. The birds must be shot in the county and brought to the courthouse within ten days after death. Eighty-seven heads brought in this morning were turned down, because they were shot on the 11th. The supervisor of the township must certify to the good faith of the hunter. A day or two ago S. S. Jones of Clinton called up Mr. Lee by telephone and asked how old a crow had to be before the county would pay bounty. He said that a boy had presented himself at his office with a large number of birds, many of which had only recently been hatched. Mr. Jones said that these had seen too little of the world and that he could not approve of the idea of paying for them. They had not seen enough of the However, there is no stipulation in the law regarding age, although a newly hatched crow, minus its feathers, can hardly be distinguished from specimens from many other varieties of infant birds. One of the methods employed by boys who are seeking these small ones is to rap on the trees where their nests are located. The jar is said to alarm the little ones and they promptly crawl overhead and take a long dive to the earth.

the occasion last Saturday night when a mob at Richland Center attempted to lynch three men accused of a brutal crime. When the spirit of lawlessness awakes in American communities two things are necessary to bring about a temporary reign of anarchy—a leader and a weak peace officer. The Richland Center mob did not develop such a leader and the sheriff was a strong man, one who knew his duty and was courageous enough to do it.

Madison Democrat: Robin polio is a new delicacy which it remained for the Italian emigrants to this country to discover. Down on a railroad in Pennsylvania a gang of laborers of that race has for some time past been feasting upon it, fully 500 of these song birds having been killed recently when, 200 of the birds being killed for a special holiday feast. The fact came out in the arrest of an Italian for killing a robin. He was fined $16 and doubtless will dine on crow when overtaken hereafter by his pot-pie appetite.

Chicago Chronicle: Intimations received by King Peter of Serbia to the effect that the gentlemen who killed his predecessor are now preparing to kill him show that it is inexpedient to form even a passive alliance with criminals. Peter is the beneficiary of assassination and the assassin has become tired of him. If they murder him the consummation will be a phase of retributive justice, which may excite horror and indignation, but which certainly will occasion no surprise. No divinity hedges a king whose ascent to the throne was over the body of a murder predecessor.

Exchange: Joseph Jefferson used to tell an interesting story of how his father and company were rescued from a distressing predicament in Springfield, Ill. Arriving there they used the last of their funds in building a small theater. There was a religious revival in the town, the leaders of which not only denounced the players, but persuaded the town council to impose a heavy license upon the "unholy calling." All the actors were in despair, when they were visited by a young lawyer, who offered, in the interest of fair play, to have the license fee reduced. He appeared before the council and in an eloquent speech, filled with logic and pathos and interspersed with anecdotes which raised roars of laughter, won his point. The lawyer was Abraham Lincoln.

Appleton Post: The bill empowering the state board of medical examiners to refuse to give or to revoke the license of physicians guilty of immoral or unprofessional conduct, was ordered to engrossment in the assembly Thursday by a vote of 57 to 21, after a less drastic measure had been defeated by two votes. As before stated herein, the ultimate purposes of the bill are, in the main, all right. The objection to it is that a court of doctors, instead of a court of justice, is given authority to administer punishment for any violation of its provisions.

What the NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY Has Done and is Doing

The National Biscuit Company has brought the science of baking close to the point of perfection, practically revolutionizing the baking of biscuit, crackers and wafers.

It makes them better than they have ever been made before; it keeps them fresh in air tight packages, as they have never been kept before, and all this goodness it guarantees by placing a trade mark in red and white on each end of the package, so that even the toddler peeping eagerly over the counter's edge, may buy as safely as the thoughtful housewife.

If every woman in the land could actually know the high quality, the never-ending care, the infinite skill, the absolute cleanliness that is represented by every package bearing this trade mark  of the National Biscuit Company, it is certain that there never would be another biscuit, cracker or wafer sold in a common paper bag.

That this happy consummation may come to pass, the National Biscuit Company will invite the ladies of this city to join them in pleasant entertainment and thus become acquainted in a really delightful way with the most delicious baking in the world.

By this time Stackhouse, with his fists clenched, was pacing the floor.

"First of all," said the detective, quietly observing Stackhouse under his eyebrows—"first of all, let us look at your own interests here. Perhaps you over-estimate the influence of that word written on the wall—your name, as you declare. No one else has asserted this openly, Mr. Stackhouse; but there have, no doubt, been whisperings to that effect, and it is the part of wisdom for you to silence, at once and effectually, any such charge, uttered, insinuated, or hinted at. You can, of course, prove your whereabouts at the time when the murder must have been committed?"

Mr. Lamm said this in a tone of business-like indifference.

"You mean—an alibi?" asked Stackhouse, with something more of hesitancy than had characterized his statements hitherto.

"Certainly."

"Well, Mr. Lamm, as we are on confidential terms, talking as man to man, I see no reason for concealing the fact that my position as regards an alibi is a little peculiar."

"Indeed?" Mr. Lamm gave his pen another twirl.

"I went to Vercelli's about half-past six o'clock for dinner, with Mr. Sparhawk, one of my business friends. He was obliged to take a train out of town on the Providence road, and after the dinner I walked up and down the Public Garden, smoking a contemplative cigar."

"Alone?"

"Yes; just how long this might have taken I really cannot say."

"About what time did you finish your dinner?"

"Somewhere about half-past seven o'clock. After this little walk, to help digest my dinner, I went towards Washington street again. Then—but why should I beat about the bush? The evening was on my hands, and I dropped in for a quiet little game with some friends at a house in Ivory street."

"Yes; I've heard of the place," said the detective, dryly.

"There I stayed until it was getting nearly two o'clock, when I walked into the Adams house, and slept till breakfast."

"Umh!" Mr. Lamm seemed to be considering a point. "About what time did you visit the Ivory street house? It may be important as bearing on the question of alibi."

"Not until after nine. I can be sure of that, for I distinctly remember hearing the bells ring at that hour while I was in the street."

"At all events," said the detective, "your friends can testify, if it should be necessary, through any complication of circumstances, when you joined your party, and how long you remained there?"

"Undoubtedly," Mr. Stackhouse sat a moment thinking in his turn. "I suppose no reliable opinion has yet been given as to the time when Paul North came to his end." He looked a trifle uneasy as he put the question.

"We must await the report of the autopsy on that point," rejoined the detective. "It seems to be taken for granted that Mr. North died some time between six p. m. and nine a. m. by the papers. Only the decision of the medical examiner, however, can have weight in the matter. If I can ascertain its drift in advance," added Mr. Lamm, as if struck by a sudden thought, "I will advise you at once."

"Then you really think you can undertake the case?" Stackhouse asked, eagerly.

"I have decided to," said Lamm, dryly. "I am very glad you came here, Mr. Stackhouse. I think I should have Brain Workers.

Brain workers suffer from headache because they over-tax and exhaust the brain nerves. Tired, irritated, turbulent brain nerves throb and ache; this weakens the brain power, and robs the memory.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills bring tranquility to the excited nerves and stop the pain.

If not relieved, this nerve disturbance is frequently extended to the stomach, causing nausea, vomiting—sick headache.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are convenient to take—just a little tablet, that in a few moments relieves the pain; they leave no disagreeable after-effects, as they contain no opium, morphine, cocaine or chloral in any form.

"From personal experience I can testify that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are a most excellent remedy for headache and neuralgia. I have been a great sufferer from both diseases for the past three years. A friend who had also suffered from neuralgia handed me some of the Anti-Pain Pills. I took them and they gave me almost instant relief. Since then I have a package at home, and another at the office, and they never fail to relieve me."

been led into serious error regarding this case if you had not come. However, it is all right. I shall make an exception to an almost unbroken business rule, and undertake the case for a few days at least. If I find I cannot continue the work, I will promptly notify you."

Evidently gratified at receiving this assurance, Stackhouse took his leave.

Mr. Lamm was not in the habit of working for both sides of a case at the same time, and he was only induced to break his rule in this instance by the sudden suspicion that Petridge, not Stackhouse, was the criminal. He had strong objections to identifying himself with the cause of the murderer when he might be employed in the interests of justice.

"I'll soon find out," he said to himself, "which of you is the villain, and send in my resignation to that man-at-once."

But it did not prove to be such an easy task as Mr. Lamm had anticipated.

The detective left his office almost upon the heels of his second client, and, shadowing him a short distance, saw him enter a branch office of the Western Union Telegraph company. It is a very strict rule with the company that dispatches are to be considered confidential, and woe to the man who betrays this confidence and gets caught at it. But it is a pretty difficult thing to restrain a man from accommodating a friend when he is sure that the friend will never allow him to suffer thereby; and so, through the courtesy of the operator, who was upon Mr. Lamm's list of "availables," the dispatch written by the junior partner was, soon after that gentleman's departure, in the hands of the detective.

It was addressed to Comfort Hardwood, Swampscott, and contained these words:

"Am very busy with matters growing out of sad event. Will come by five o'clock train to Phillips Beach."

The reading of this telegram modified John Lamm's plans. If he wished to shadow Stackhouse, there were two courses open to him. One was to follow him through all the details of his operation till he got to Swampscott, and the other was to anticipate his arrival there. He adopted the latter as the more promising.

"With all due respect to you, Mr. Petridge," he said to himself, "I should like to begin the case with an understanding of the motive, and if it's a family affair, as you say, why, the family will be a very good point to start at. Perhaps I shall find them less delicate than you are about it—who knows? For at such times emotional excitement loosens everybody's tongue."

He consulted a time-table and hastened to the railway station in Causeway street. In 15 minutes he was in the train going towards Swampscott.

Drawing from his pocket a scarcely dry copy of the paper containing the first chapter of the tragic mystery in which he was embarked, he ran his eye carefully through the meager details thus far published. He seemed pleased when he saw by whom the report was signed.

"K. F. Thomas? Indeed! I'll look him up at once. That fellow knows more people and their histories than a biographical dictionary. Perhaps he can tell me all I want to know about Richard Petridge."

At this point in his soliloquy Mr. Lamm could not repress a start of surprise. At that very instant, the man whose name was on his mind's lips entered the smoking car and sat down in one of the forward seats.

"What the deuce is Petridge going to Swampscott for at this time of the day?" he asked himself.

And for reasons which he believed to be excellent the detective folded his paper and hastened out of possible range of view of his client, unsatisfied till he had put the entire length of the train between them.

CHAPTER IV.

AN UNBIDDEN GUEST. Alighting at the Phillips Beach station, with a large contingent of sojourners, Mr. Lamm appeared to be quite as familiar with the place as the rest of the hurrying throng.

In order to permit Petridge to get well out of the way, he stopped to inquire of the station agent where the Norths lived.

"Just up the street, yonder," the agent replied. "Sad news for them, isn't it? The whole household is upset. There's Moffett, their 'inside man,' now, on the platform, looking after the train."

In a moment Mr. Lamm was at the side of the bewildered Moffett, and talking to him as if he had known the poor man of bottles and carving knives all his life.

"I am glad to have met you," he said. "I was a friend of Mr. North, and take a great interest in the family. Poor girls! I couldn't bear to break in upon their grief, but I feel that at a time like this a friend should do something."

Moffett clutched his shoulder. "Oh, sir," he whispered, with an aroma of something stimulating by the way of flavor for the words, "if you are a friend, you can't do better than come up to the house. I have been waiting here in hopes that Mr. Stackhouse would return. But he doesn't; and there they are at the house in a terrible condition, sir."

"Overcome by the sad news?" Mr. Lamm said, as they walked up the street.

"Oh, sir, there's been some trouble there. I don't know what—scenes between the women. They don't understand what to do, sir. The servants are all upset, too. If it weren't for me, sir, nobody would think of going to watch for Mr. Stackhouse. It's his not coming that worries me, sir."

Yielding to the earnest wish of Moffett, the friend of the family entered the house through the servants' door, the "inside man" clinging to his arm with a nervous grasp.

Without delay Mr. Lamm was escorted to the pantry-room by the portly Moffett, who moved lightly, though slowly. They entered this sanctuary of the "inside man" without meeting any of the household; for, of course, Moffett had the necessary keys.

Moffett had assumed an air of importance and profound mystery that would infallibly have aroused comment and suspicion had he met any of the servants. But, fortunately, both were now in the pantry-room with the door locked.

The detective was accustomed to meet all sorts and conditions of men, but he found it hard to refrain from laughing outright at the change in Mr. Moffett's looks as he faced him, after the pantry-room door had been locked, and held up a warning finger. But he said, solemnly:

"Moffett, you're a man of sense, therefore I make no long explanations, but tell you frankly at once that I am a representative of the authorities—don't start, Moffett—and am sent here in the interests of justice."

"Justice!" murmured the butler, looking helplessly at him.

"Here is my badge," continued the detective, throwing back his coat. "And now it is absolutely necessary, Moffett, that I should have the run of the house—watch, without anybody's suspecting the fact, all that goes on, and have an eye to affairs generally. I have come to you in this way, Moffett, because I've been told that you're a very discreet man. Unless you repeat what I have told you, nobody in the house need know of my remaining here, nor have any idea of the real object which brings me."

"But I don't like, sir," stammered the butler, who already began to tremble.

"You must like it, Moffett," emphasized the detective. "I don't wish to make any trouble or take you in charge, but I am fully prepared to go as far as that if you are not sensible enough to see the reasonableness of my first proposal. There! I see by your look you understand the situation. Very good. Now, where is the best, the most central, place in the house, in which you can stow me, do you think, Moffett?"

The "inside man" of Mr. Paul North's establishment was a picture of perplexity and despair.

"Central place! Stow you!" he murmured helplessly, puffing like a fat porpoise; "but what will Miss Harwood say—and Mrs. Stackhouse, and—and Mr. Stackhouse? No, no; it ain't regular. I'm afraid it ain't regular, sir."

"HERE'S MY BADGE," CONTINUED THE DETECTIVE, THROWING BACK HIS COAT.

"Oh, I guess you misunderstand me, Moffett; misunderstand me completely," said Mr. Lamm, calmly crossing his legs as he sat in the butler's chair. "It's to spare the ladies worry, trouble and excitement that I came to you. I'll be frank with you; because I can easily see you're a man of discretion and can keep a secret. I am expecting the murderer of Mr. North to call here, and I want to be where I can arrest him quietly and without undue excitement, which you wouldn't want yourself in a family like this, now, would you, Moffett?"

"But—but they—the servants—might know you're here. They may have seen you come in. They—"

"Oh, pshaw, Moffett, you can slam the front door, and if any questions are asked, you can say that I went out that way. Come, come, Moffett, be a man. Don't shake so. Everything will be done quietly and in order, I assure you."

"And this man, this murderer," stammered Moffett, who was well-nigh frightened out of his wits; "is he violent, sir? Won't he try to shoot somebody else? Won't he—I think, perhaps, if I went out down the street a little while so as not to be obliged to answer any questions—"

"An excellent idea, Moffett," interrupted the detective, who was really beginning to be alarmed by the undue agitation of the affrighted steward. "But, hold on. Wait till I have done with you. Where are the women folk?"

"In their rooms, sir, upstairs."

"Umh! Do you happen to have any photographs of the young ladies handy?"

"There are some in the parlor. Yes, sir."

"Get them for me. Bring them here immediately."

CARNEGIE HEROES GET MEDALS AND MONEY

Silver and Bronze Emblems Are Given to Those Who Risked Life to Rescue Others.

Pittsburg, May 25.—The first "Carnegie heroes" have been named by the commission in charge of the $5,000,000 fund given by the ironmaster. Three silver and six bronze medals were awarded. Three widows, whose husbands lost their lives in the performance of acts of heroism, were cared for by the commission, and in one case a money grant was made to a heroine for educational purposes. The commission made a grant of $10,000 to the general fund for the relief of the dependents upon the victims of the Brockton, Mass., disaster last March.

A young woman of Iowa was awarded a bronze medal. The heroine is Lavinia Steele, aged 27, a library cataloguer of Des Moines.

The other awards were made as follows:

Ernestine F. Atwood, aged 17, a student of Melrose, Mass., was awarded a silver medal and $500 to be devoted by her to educational purposes.

Alexander Cameron, aged 27, of Lindsay, Canada, was awarded a silver medal.

Gideon King Marshall, aged 33, lost his life at Springdale, Pa., while attempting to rescue two laborers. The commission awarded the widow a silver medal and $500.

Seymour J. Leighton, aged 41, a machinist, was drowned while trying to rescue two school girls. Leighton's widow was awarded a bronze medal and $500.

Thomas H. McCann, aged 32, tried to save an 8-year-old boy from drowning. Mrs. McCann was awarded a bronze medal and $500.

Louis A. Baumann, Jr., aged 17, a farmer's son, was awarded a bronze medal for saving the life of a companion.

John J. Riley, aged 44, for rescuing a would-be suicide, was awarded a bronze medal.

John J. Healy, aged 24, hospital attendant at Ellis Island, was awarded a bronze medal.

Waterways Conference

Washington, May 25.—The American and Canadian members of the International Deep Waterway commission met here today for the purpose of selecting permanent headquarters and agreeing upon the scope of the joint commission's work. The commission was authorized by the river and harbor act of 1902, and the Canadian government last year accepted the invitation to participate in the discussions. The purpose of the commission is to investigate the waterways adjacent to the boundaries between this country and Canada, which have their outlet in the river St. Lawrence, with a view to improving their navigation. Another project for consideration is the construction of a dam at the outlet of Lake Erie and general regulation and maintenance of water levels.

Southern Bridge Opening

Thelma, Miss., May 25.—George J. Gould and a number of other prominent railroad officials witnessed the formal opening of the new bridge across the Mississippi river here today. The bridge is already open to traffic, but the formal ceremonies were arranged for today to suit the convenience of the railroad officials. It is owned jointly by the Gould lines, the Frisco and the Illinois Central. After the ceremony the Gould party left for the east via Altamont.

Smart Wedding in Gotham

New York, May 25.—Fashionable society all over the country sent congratulations to Miss Estelle de Peyster, daughter of the late Col. Johnston de Peyster, who was quietly married in Grace church here today to Edward H. Hosmer, the well-known society and clubman. The marriage which was to have been a very large affair was celebrated quietly because of the recent death of the bride's father, who was one of the best known men in the country.

General Davis in Washington

Washington, May 25.—General Davis, governor of the Panama Canal zone, who will be succeeded by Judge Charles E. Macoon, arrived here today from New York and called on the President to report upon the conditions existing at the isthmus.

U. S. Rubber Absorbs Rubber Co. New Brunswick, N. J., May 25.—At

The Ladies of Janesville and vicinity are cordially invited to attend a reception to be given by the National Biscuit Company, at Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, Saturday, May twenty-seventh, from two until five o'clock.

Music and Refreshments.

a special meeting of the stockholders of the United States Rubber company held here today action was taken approving the absorption of the Rubber Goods company, by the former concern. The United States Rubber company takes over 67 per cent of the manufacturing concern's stock and has increased its capital to $75,000,000 and created an issue of second preferred stock.

PROTECTS THE PAPER TRUST

Witness in Federal Suit Refuses to Reveal Company's Profits.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—A change of witnesses in the suit of the United States against the General Paper company failed to change the policy of the defense. When W. Z. Stuart, former general sales agent of the company, was asked questions by Attorney Kellogg Herron on the profits of the company and the sales of the individual mills he was instructed by counsel not to answer. He did say, however, that the General Paper company made contracts with jobbers all over the country to whom paper was shipped direct by the mills.

STUDENTS CLEAN THE STREETS

Strike in Sweden's Capital May Result in Soldiers Attacking Fifth.

Stockholm, May 25.—Students of the high schools are cleaning the city's streets in place of the regular street cleaners, who have struck for improved conditions. Plenty of volunteers seem ready to assist the municipal authorities and it is said that in the event of a continuance of the strike military officers and civil officials intend to form a street-cleaning brigade and take turns in attending to the sanitary necessities of Stockholm.

Doesn't Like Tainted Money.

Boston, May 25.—The Rev. Herbert S. Johnson declared the tide of opinion in the Baptist church against tainted money was rising and that soon Rockefeller's money would not be accepted unless he gives it as a penitent.

Japs Cleaner than British.

DOLL'S STOCKINGS

SIZES TO FIT EVERY DOLL,

...FREE NEXT SATURDAY...

Every little girl who owns a Doll is invited to come to our store next Saturday. Bring Dolly, too, and we will give her a pair of genuine Burson Fashioned Hose.

We have been having a great celebration all this week over these Seamless Stockings—the only Seamless Hose ever made that will fit. Burson Stockings are knit on a wonderful machine that shapes (or fashions) them just like hand knitting.

Burson Fashioned Stockings not only fit, but the absence of seams makes them more comfortable—smooth and easy—no creases or hard seams to hurt and make corns. Seams often get twisted and often look untidy. The Burson is always neat.

GUARANTEE—A new pair for every pair that fails.

DAILY TALKS IN OUR STOCKING DEPARTMENT.

GIRLS

Bring your Dolls Saturday. A pair of Seamless Stockings to fit your Doll

FREE

We only ask that mother or some other grown person come with you to see that you get here and home safely.

This Entire Week will be devoted to Hosiery selling. Our object is to impress upon the people the high standard and low prices of Hosiery for Women, Children and Men. You will find us strong on quality. You will find us long on quantity. You will find that we make you a saving on every pair of Hose you buy of us.

BORT, BAILEY & CO.

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

CLEAR AND CONCISE.

We labor to make our advertising clear and concise; want it to be plain and easily understood, and particularly do we want it to be believed. Your business friendship is essential to this store's business growth, and only by stating facts, and backing up the statements, can any store hope to retain the confidence of its buying public.

This Week We Talk Floor Coverings. We'll Quote You Some Very Tempting Values.

Carpet Selling. We're in proper shape to figure with you on this carpet matter, and we'll figure as close as we consistently can for good carpets and good work.

The Axminster Carpets of which we show a large assortment of desirable patterns, cannot be bought by any merchant today and retailed at our price—$1.00.

For good low priced Rugs we recommend our new styles in Tapestry Brussels with Borders to match.

Our Granite and Cotton Ingrains are excellent values at such figures as 25c, 30c, 35c.

Our facilities for getting out orders promptly are unsurpassed.

The Season's Matting Chance.

The mattings are all in, all ready for your selection; mattings from China, mattings from Japan, jointed mattings, jointless mattings, cord warp mattings. Just a lot or two here.

Hodge's Fibre Carpet—Really a matting with a smooth finish, made in beautiful carpet patterns, fancy colorings. We have the Janesville agency, show a large assortment of the yard goods, also three grades of Hodge's Rugs: Kaba, Fibre and Fibrette. They are very artistic high class floor coverings at moderate prices. Carpets are 40c, 50c, 60c; Rugs, $1.00 for 18x36, $12.00 for 9x12 feet, and several sizes and prices between.

Matting—All straw or cotton warp—hundreds of rolls at 12 1/2c to 40c. Janesville's greatest stock; nothing better for cool floor covering for cottages, bedrooms, &c.

The Burson Seamless Hosiery, of which we show several grades, we have carried in stock for several years. It is made in Rockford, Ill. While we consider the Burson hose excellent value, we do not think they take precedence over the many other makes of fine hose which we show, as great strides have been made in the manufacture of hose, all first-class makes being practically seamless, owing to the way in which the seams are finished.

A word about Flannels

Wash them in warm (not hot) Peosta suds allowing only a few minutes to soak. Thoroughly rinse in water of the same temperature. If washed with Peosta, the finer flannels should be rubbed only with the hands. Dry quickly. Five bars of Peosta soap, enough to do five large washings—cost 25 cents at any grocery store.

Use Beach's Peosta Soap

Beach's Hand Soap

softens rough hands.
